

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for reducing contamination in a plastic container. A coating is provided for the container serving two functions. First, it causes the surface of the container to wet more easily. Second, it reacts with organic molecules emitted from the container so as to render them harmless to the contents stored inside the container.

PATAPP2.006